Showing Their Support For Those On The Front Line

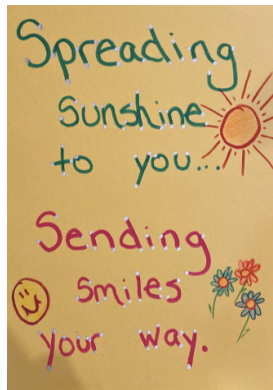

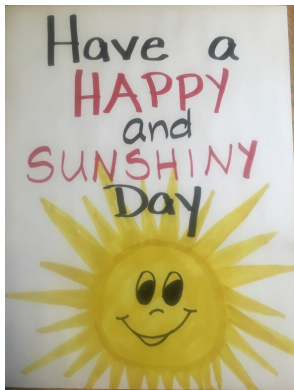

Students and staff members have been showing their support to our first responders, health care and essential workers by creating signs and displays. The staff of the Alfred Baumann Library earlier this week put together a wonderful video celebrating the community spirit that has been shown by everyone.

Sending Sunshine

In the hopes of spreading love, kindness, and happiness, Mrs. Murray, Miss Jones, Mrs. Roy (one of our 6th grade parents) along with numerous selfless 6th graders decided to write little notes to people in nursing homes. During a time when so many are unable to enjoy the company of their loved ones, these students wanted to bring them light and happiness.

FAMILIES TALK

'Find The Library At Your Place' during National Library Week

This week, the Alfred H. Baumann Free Public Library invites all community members to find the library at their place by visiting the website www.abwplibrary.org to access virtual services and resources. While the library's physical spaces may be temporarily closed due to COVID-19, the public can discover ebooks, movies, video games, online storytimes and more from home.

Throughout this pandemic, libraries of all types are continuing to make a difference in people's lives by providing electronic learning resources, including virtual programs, online crafting, DIY, cooking sessions as well as information. At the Alfred Baumann Library there are a wide array virtual services that you can find on the website and on its Library Land YouTube channel.

April 19-25, 2020 is National Library Week, a time to highlight the valuable role libraries, librarians and library workers play in transforming lives and strengthening communities. The public can show their appreciation and support for libraries by visiting their library's website, following them on social media and using the hashtag #NationalLibraryWeek. You can find the Alfred Baumann Library on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter @ABWPLibrary.

The original theme for National Library Week, "Find your place at the library," was chosen months ago before the emergence of a global pandemic would force libraries to close their buildings. In response to our rapidly-changing times, the theme was revised to "Find the library at your place" to bring attention to how libraries are open for business online, offering the electronic services and digital content their communities need now more than ever.

Submissions sought for Library's mixed media history project

The Alfred Baumann Library and the Woodland Park Historical Society would like to record a history of experiences and expressions from residents as a way to document this unprecedented event in history.

Residents are invited to send in their stories. Responses can be short-stories, journal entries, pictures, photographs, artwork, or a video recording talking about your experiences. If you are recording your story, start out by giving us your name (it can just be your first name if you do not want to give your last name) and age. Keep your video under 5 minutes long.

Talk about some of the things on the list that are meaningful to you:

Describe how you feel.

Talk about some things you have been doing while quarantined.

Show us something you have made or created.

How are you keeping connected to your family? Your community?

Did you celebrate a birthday, anniversary, or special event during this time?

Tell us how you celebrated.

Tell us about something you and/or your family did to help someone else.

Were you homeschooling? Describe your experience.

Describe your experiences with cooking and/or shopping, ordering out, etc.

Talk about what you are most grateful for?

Describe what have you learned about yourself, your family, friends, community.
